

Name: Thistle "Thorn" Hoofridge

Species: Goat

Gender: Male (he/him)

Personality: Playful, confident, and a bit mischievous, Thistle is always up for an adventure. He loves being around nature, often exploring forests and rocky mountainsides. He's curious by nature and has a tendency to get into trouble, but his sharp wit and natural charm gets him out of most situations. Despite his impish tendencies, Thistle has a soft spot for animals and smaller creatures and is always willing to help others when it counts, especially his fellow furies, and is always down to play.

Appearance:

- Horns: Curved and majestic, his horns are dark brown and slightly twisted, adorned with small markings etched along the length.
- Fur: Mix of deep chestnut and light tan, with patches of white that streak across their chest, belly, and down their legs. Their fur is thick and soft, especially along their back and sides.
- Eyes: Large, expressive golden eyes that sparkle with curiosity and mischief.
- Build: Strong, athletic build, with defined muscles from climbing and exploring rocky terrain. He's tall and sturdy, with the powerful legs of a goat and dexterous hands. His muscles are thick and strong, with large biceps. He also has large abs, reaching well over a 6 pack.
- Tail: A short, fluffy tail that sways with excitement and emotion.
- Ears: Large and fluffy, like a golden retriever's. Will perk up when excited.

Clothing/Accessories:

Thistle prefers simple yet functional attire, often wearing a leather vest (no undershirt) and a pair of worn jeans. They carry a small satchel filled with nature-related tools and items like herbs, crystals, and a small pocketknife. He wears a beaded necklace with a charm of a leaf, representing their connection to nature.

Backstory:

Thistle grew up in a secluded forest village where they learned the ways of nature, including herbology, tracking, and the art of survival in the wild. Over the years, they've wandered beyond their village, eager to discover new places and meet other travelers. Though they once dreamed of becoming a healer, Thistle has found their true passion in exploring ancient ruins and uncovering long-forgotten secrets of the world.